Job Description

The University of Kentucky College of Medicine Department of Family & Community Medicine (DFCM) is seeking a qualified family physician to join our outpatient clinic in Georgetown, Kentucky. Faculty physicians will practice primary care, non-surgical obstetrics, and facilitate a rotation site for third-year medical students participating in the required family medicine clerkship. DFCM has additional primary care practices in Lexington, Hazard, and Hindman, Kentucky.

With several clinics in the state, we serve as leaders at UK HealthCare, a $4 billion health system, in its primary care delivery strategy by implementing value-based clinical redesign and population medicine programs. We have aligned our clinical approach to enhance value-based quality measures through pre-visit planning, comprehensive nurse assessment, and a UK HealthCare Population Health team involving social workers, community health workers, and RN care managers. We are a national
