Kean University in Union, New Jersey has grown into a comprehensive, global institution of higher education serving a diverse enrollment of more than 18,000 undergraduate and graduate students. Kean, New Jersey's first Urban Research University, creates a world-class, innovative and inclusive society through equity and excellence in teaching, learning, global research and impactful public engagement.

Kean is on a path to receiving the R2 designation for high research activity from the Carnegie Classification of Institutions of Higher Education. With three campuses located in New Jersey, a virtual campus through Kean Online, and a campus in China - Wenzhou-Kean University, our six colleges offer more than 50 undergraduate programs and more than 70 options for graduate study, leading to master's degrees, doctoral degrees, professional diplomas or certifications.

The Department of Physician Assistant Studies in the College of Health Professions and Human Services trains future Physician Assistants to be medical professionals who can provide excellent medical care across health care disciplines and settings. The Department offers a Master of Science degree in Physician Assistant Studies and prepares program graduates to provide evidence-based, holistic healthcare treatments and effectively utilize the latest medical technologies.

The Department is excited to invite applications for an innovative and distinguished scholar in the field of medical education to serve as the inaugural Dr. Marian R. Stuart '71 Endowed Professor of Medical Education. This position will begin on September 1, 2025.

Kean alumna Marian R. Stuart, Ph.D., has given Kean a transformative gift that will have a lasting impact on medical education at the University. An author, speaker, psychotherapist and renowned medical educator, Dr. Stuart began her studies at Kean and earned her bachelor's degree in psychology, reflecting her longstanding, deep interest in that field. She went on to receive her master's degree and doctorate in social psychology at Rutgers University, working as a clinician at the Mental Health Center, and qualifying for a license as a practicing psychologist.

Dr. Stuart, Professor Emeritus of Family Medicine and Community Health at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, credits her time at Kean with giving her a solid foundation for a successful career as a medical educator. In her 30-year career at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, Dr. Stuart headed the Behavioral Health Program for the Department of Family Medicine. She carved out a unique role as a psychologist working alongside medical doctors, teaching the art of effectively integrating mental and physical health practices. She was elected as an Honorary Member of the American Academy of Family Physicians, an extraordinary achievement for a psychologist.

The successful applicant will be an influential voice in the field of medical education, with a compelling
