UAE University (UAEU), in collaboration with the College of Medicine and Health Sciences (CMHS), is seeking top-tier researchers to advance innovative trends in healthcare and biomedical sciences. The focus is on addressing key health challenges through cutting-edge areas like stem cells, personalized medicine, AI in healthcare, and bioengineering. Successful candidates will have a strong research record, leadership experience, and a commitment to mentoring students and securing funding. This opportunity aims to drive transformative research aligned with UAEU's strategic goals and national health priorities.

Minimum Qualification

- Research Excellence: MD and PhD or PhD with strong publication record in high-impact journals, high h-index (at least 40 on Scopus), and significant citation count. Demonstrated innovation and global impact in research.
- Grants and Funding: Proven ability to secure competitive research grants and lead collaborative projects.
- Graduate Students' Teaching and Supervision: Experience in teaching and mentoring graduate students, with evidence of student success.
- Leadership: Leadership in research programs, international collaborations, and academic conferences.
- Recognition: Awards, invited talks, and editorial roles showing peer recognition in the field.
- Institutional and National Research Alignment: Alignment with the research goals of CMHS, UAEU, and national strategic priorities.
- Collaboration and Communication: Strong interpersonal skills and the ability to work effectively in teams.

Preferred Qualification

Recruitment Focus on Innovative Trends in Healthcare and Biomedical Sciences, including (but not limited to):

- Stem Cells
- Generative AI in Healthcare
- Personalized/Precision Medicine and Health
- Biobanking (disease cohorts, others) and large-scale population studies
- Impact of Environment on Health and its interaction with other health-related factors (e.g., genetics)
- Promoting Healthy Aging and disease prevention
